Merriam Okehs Farm Plan

11-Point Program On Labor Policies Pledged Support

Governor Frank F. Merriam has promised full state co-operation with an eleven-point program to govern agricultural labor in California. The governor's endorsement was given to a committee, headed by A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, president of the California State Chamber of Commerce, and including Ralph Taylor, secretary of the California Agricultural Council, and R. N. Wilson of the state chamber.

The agricultural labor policies, approved by the governor, are sponsored by the California Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers' Union, the Associated Farmers, the agricultural council, and the state chamber.

McFadden, Taylor and Wilson were authorized by the five farm organizations to ask approval by the governor of a set of farm labor policies urging that agricultural employers continue to improve working conditions and ban unfair labor practices. The groups insist upon protecting all farm workers in their right to work, and condemn intimidation or coercion by employers, employees or racketeers.

The governor responding to McFadden's statement said he heartily approved the policies set forth and would pledge full co-operation in making them effective throughout the state.

The program urged by the five organizations, representing 150,000 farmers of California, is the outgrowth of a meeting called by the State Chamber in Sacramento in June, and presided over by A. J. McFadden.

"Unanimous agreement on this eleven-point program," said McFadden, "insures general statewide acceptance of a set of policies designed to eliminate agricultural labor disturbances in the agricultural field, and should insure a prosperous future for California farmers, as well as farm workers."

The principles sponsored by the farm organizations and approved by the governor follow:

1. That agricultural employers continue to improve working conditions and condemn all unfair labor practices to their employees.
2. That agricultural employers pledge all of their resources to protect every agricultural worker in his right to work, and insist that all law enforcing agencies co-operate to the end that adequate and impartial protection of all persons and property be maintained at all times.
3. That we strongly condemn any policy of intimidation or coercion on

Rhodes Leaves Ford Agency

Cecil George Named Manager; Lions Head Plans Vacation

J. H. Rhodes leaves Sunday on a three-week vacation trip to the Pacific Northwest, following his resignation early this week as manager of the Russell J. Wilson automobile agency.

He has been succeeded as manager by Cecil George.

Rhodes, who has been manager of the Ford and Lincoln agency for several years past, under the ownership of Mr. Webb, of Grass Valley, and later under the Russell J. Wilson ownership, expects to be away for about three weeks and will go as far north as Vancouver.

During his absence, his post as president of the Placerville Den of Lions, in which office he recently was installed, will be filled by the Lion first vice-president, William Hays.

Fine, Jail Term For Reckless Driver

Albert Simpson, of Camino, arrested by State Traffic Officer Bob Fowler on a charge of reckless driving, was found guilty Saturday before Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and serve five days in jail.

Clarence Scheiber was a caller Saturday morning from Shingle.

Chemistry Holds Promise Of World Free Of Disease

By HILLIER KRIEGHBAUM
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—It is interesting sometimes to look ahead from your present scientific knowledge and project existing trends into a sort of H. G. Wells fantasy of what the future might be.

A. Cressy Morrison of New York in his "Man in a Chemical World," published under the auspices of the American Chemical Society, has offered a preview of what a future American may be like.

He finds men able to fly without wings by "neutralizing" gravity. The rarest metals produced by atomic bombardment. Infectious diseases banished through the use of new chemical treatments. Crops grown to order from tanks containing a synthetic environment. Rare perfumes made in test tubes for popular consumption at cheap prices.

"What is gravity, how fast does gravity travel, can it be neutralized?" Morrison asks in his discussion. "Will the philosophy of the world be changed again by new discoveries here and the aviator find himself outfitted with no wings at all? The future holds possibilities so far beyond our dreams that we must admit that we have just opened the door through which our successors will be admitted to a new realm of discovery far greater than we can imagine."

Already experts have been able to make gold synthetically—the dreamed of but never attained goal of the medieval chemists. Cosmic rays have given scientists a clew and man has built huge machines for the bombardment of atoms by powerful electric charges.

"Theoretically, transmutation is at hand," the author says. "Will a method of producing these charges economically be found, and if so will all our standards of money and economics be upset because man can produce the rarest metals at will? An expectation of such a result is not more visionary than to have supposed that the Hertzian waves would ever give us the radio and television."

Morrison lists the use of chemicals in the extinction of a number of the diseases now common as among the "more or less imminent potentialities" of research.

"As smallpox, yellow fever and typhoid fever have now become relatively rare diseases instead of scourges of nations, so may we expect tuberculosis, already demonstrated to be conquerable, influenza, pneumonia, the common cold and other infectious diseases of mature persons to disappear within a decade or two," he wrote. "The diseases of childhood already have been so far conquered that barely two, scarlet fever and infantile paralysis, remain to exact extravagant toll, and these may be expected to join diphtheria among the specters of the past which no longer haunt our young children."

Prosperity Hits Southwest

"Bread Basket" Has Best Harvest In Past Six Years

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Farmers and business men of the Southwest are facing the most prosperous period they have known in six years as a result of a bumper wheat harvest which exceeded all expectations.

Estimates of the total wheat production of the nation for this year range from 650,000,000 bushels upward—the best yield since 1931.

The final, official, figure will not be known for weeks, until after the spring wheat in the northern part of the wheat belt is harvested. But with the Southwest's harvest virtually completed, indications are that the 650,000,000-bushel forecast will not be too large.

In the Southwest, where winter wheat is the principal cash crop, the yield has been uniformly high.

One of the most encouraging factors about this year's harvest is the price, which is higher than it has been in many years despite the heavy yield.

At country elevators, farmers received prices ranging from 85 cents to $1.15, depending on their distance from marketing centers. Many farmers, however, were reported storing their wheat in anticipation of further rises in the market.

The quality of wheat throughout the Southwest has been uniformly high, testing generally 60 pounds to the bushel and some as high as 62 or 63 pounds.

Protein content also was good, according to reports from the milling centers where the new wheat has been made into flour.

Good Weather "Bad" For Children

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A study by probation officers revealed that when the weather is bad children are good. John J. Kenney, chief probation officer of the juvenile court, said that juvenile delinquency increased 25 per cent in the first five months of 1937 over the same period of 1936.

In 1936, Kenney said, snowdrifts and zero weather kept children indoors, but in 1937 the winter was so mild that the youths were outdoors much of the time and more of them got into trouble.

Kenney said there always is an inverse relationship between the weather and child delinquency.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Martinelli of Placerville, are the parents of a daughter born on Friday at a Sacramento hospital.

Junked Planes Aid Invalids

Parts Used To Make Braces For Hospital Patients

SA FRANCISCO (UP)—A definite and permanent market exists for smashed and worn-out airplanes, according to August Kern, professional brace-maker for the medical department of the University of California.

In the same way that there is a market for worn-out automobiles and for the scrap iron of ocean liners and freighters, the material coming from airplanes that have outlived their usefulness is of the highest value in the art of brace-making, Kern explained.

The fine metal and tubing from discarded airplanes, he has found within the past few years, constitutes the best material available for the manufacture of fracture-setting apparatus, overhead pulleys, rods and other appliances necessary in every hospital. Often these vary according to each patient and must be specially made, but the greatest problem has been to find a proper material that was sufficiently light and at the same time strong.

Kern, a graduate of the University of Heidelberg, for a number of years has specialized exclusively in the manufacture of hospital braces, surgical appliances and casts. Old airplane material, he said, has solved one of his most difficult problems.

Lad Cuts Arm In Frolic At Home

Doris Bathurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bathurst, suffered a rather severe laceration of his left arm Friday when he poked his hand through a pane of glass in a door at the family home. Doris and his younger brother were "romping" when the younger of the two ran through the doorway and swung the door shut behind him. Doris, in hot pursuit, pushed his hand through the pane, cutting his hand through the pane, pushing into the radial artery. He was treated by Dr. D. W. Babcock.

2 Receive Degrees In Royal Arch

Eight officers and members of St. James Chapter No. 16, R. A. M., were at Sutter Creek Friday evening, meeting with the chapter of the order at that place, whose officers assisted in conferring the Mark Master degree upon two candidates from Placerville.

The two who received the degree are George Van Vleck and Robert Fowler.

Mrs. Patricia Darlington leaves over the week-end to spend a week at her old home, Forrest Hill, on vacation.

Barts Go To Colfax

4-Club Play-Off For Title Mapped As Schedule Ends

STANDINGS

Games Next Sunday
Placerville at Colfax
Folsom at Loomis
Roseville at Auburn
Lincoln bye

The Bartlett's journey to Colfax tomorrow for their final stand of the regular Placer-Nevada league schedule, while Folsom tackles Loomis, Roseville meets Auburn and the Lincoln lads win on a forfeit.

With the Barts, Auburn and Folsom all tied for top position and assured of a position in the four-club play-off for the title, principal interest of the day from a point of view of who's going to win, centers in the Colfax-Bartlett game.

"For, it appears, it is possible for either the Loomis Reds or the Colfax Lions or the Roseville Tigers to get into the play-off, although the edge on fourth place in the standings is held by the Colfaxers."

If the Barts rap the Lions on the chin and if Loomis or Roseville or both of the latter win their games, there is the possibility of a two or even a three-way tie for fourth position.

If Colfax beats the Barts, then Mr. Thurman and his scrappy outfit are definitely "in" on the final run-around.

With .154 points separating the top clubs from the sixth position club, which has a possible chance to get into the play-off, it is evident that the teams in the league have been pretty well matched, and it is also evident that two of the clubs were badly out-pointed in regards to talent or that something else was wrong.

Since the experts have been making their choices all through the season, we'll keep on "experting" and select Folsom to beat Loomis, Auburn to beat Roseville and Placerville to beat Colfax in their own "rattlesnake gulch."

CITY WORKMEN CLEAN OUT CREEK

Brush and other refuse along Hangtown Creek is being cleaned out by the city staff, Marshall James P. Morton reported Saturday morning.

In addition, streets of the city are being patched where needed by Earl Prior.

The city water department crew, Mr. Morton reports, has lately completed installation of a fire plug on Hazard street and is engaged in the normal work of water department maintenance.

Rescue 4-H Club Conducts Tour

Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley was at Rescue on Saturday morning to assist the members of the Rescue 4-H Club, in a club project tour. While the itinerary to be taken was not given, it was understood members of the club would visit the homes of those who have projects in poultry, rabbits, sheep and clothing and hear reports on their progress.

Teachers Attending Education Meet

Among those who are attending the Stanford University Education Conference at Palo Alto are District Superintendent and Mrs. J. H. Palmer, Mrs. Helen Pierroz, Miss Eleanor Scherrer, Miss Ruth UpdeGraff and Miss Ruth Henson.

Georgetown Man Gets License In Auburn

Clerk Injured In Odd Mishap

Cleo Fields, employed at Raley's Drive-In Market, suffered an injury to his right hand Friday afternoon in an odd accident at the store.

He had been up on a ladder in the stock room and was descending when a ring on his right hand caught upon something on a round of the ladder in such a way that the flesh was painfully cut on the finger before he could release himself.

Dr. Charles Sorocco gave first aid and is in attendance on the case.

OLD SMITH HOME IS DESTROYED

2 Buildings Lost In Fire Of Unknown Origin On Tuesday

One of El Dorado County's mountain landmarks was destroyed by fire Tuesday night when flames swept the summer residence of Dr. W. L. Howard of Davis.

The place was on Park Creek, above Hazel Valley, and was the old home-stand of the Alfred E. Smith family. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who now reside in Yolo County near Woodland, are the parents of Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith.

The property was sold to Dr. Howard, a member of the College of Agriculture faculty at Davis, several years ago.

Dr. Howard is away on a three-month vacation trip. It was learned his son was at the summer home over the week-end. At that time everything was thought to be in good order.

Joe Flynn, lookout at Iron Mountain, was called into Placerville Tuesday night and when he returned to his post Wednesday morning he found that the house and an adjoining building had been destroyed by fire.

Young Slayer On Last Mile

Youth Who Tossed Girl Into Well; To Die In Chair

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (UP)—Unless there is last minute intervention, Alexander Thweatt Meyer, paroled from reform school last year, will die in the electric chair at Rockville penitentiary shortly after Sunday midnight for the murder of 16-year-old Helen Moyer.

The 20-year-old youth, son of a wealthy Philadelphia coal broker, who pleaded guilty to what his own attorney, J. Paul MacElree, described at Meyer's arraignment as "one of the most brutal, gruesome murders of all time." He subsequently was sentenced to death by two Chester county judges who heard evidence, without a jury, to determine the degree of guilt.

Helen Moyer disappeared February 11 as she walked from Coatesville high school to her home in Modena, several miles away. Beside the highway, police found her shoes—torn as if by an impact—her battered books and a broken headlight lens.

For more than a week volunteers and Boy Scouts searched the woods and dragged ponds and streams in a search for her body. Authorities believed she had been struck down and killed by a hit-run motorist who carried her body away with him. This theory was given weight by the story of a Negro who reported he saw a green truck turning around in the road hurriedly on the afternoon Helen disappeared.

A young woman employed at the farm of O. Jackson Meyer, Alexander's father, told officers she had seen the youth filing down a larger headlight lens to fit a lamp on the green dairy truck which he drove.

Checking the two stories, Francis Grubb, Chester county detective, placed Meyer under arrest and announced on February 20 that he had obtained a confession.

Mrs. Lucretia Moran of Toledo, Ohio, is here to visit her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Moran. The son is administrative assistant on Eldorado Forest.

200 Deaths Heat Toll

Scorching Week-end Forecast For U. S. East Of Rockies

By UNITED PRESS

Nearly two-thirds of the United States simmered today in the grip of a heat wave which has caused more than 200 deaths in four days.

A survey of deaths on the heat area since thermometers first began shooting to record heights four days ago showed: Heat deaths, 128; drownings, 89.

Five persons were killed by lightning in local thunderstorms which accompanied the summer's first intense heat wave. At least three suicides were traceable directly to heat.

A scorching week-end was in sight for nearly two-thirds of the United States, and with it the possibility of a serious increase in traffic fatalities and drownings as hundreds of thousands sought relief in the countryside.

The government's general forecast for the heat area was "generally fair" and "continued warm." Local thunderstorms added to the already oppressive

When Baby Travels

Home is the best place for a baby, since all his belongings and conveniences are there and his regular routine may be best preserved there—but the family must sometimes go places and it is necessary to take the baby along. It is hard on both baby and mother, if the child must be carried in arms. A baby basket, hammock or even a large pasteboard carton may be made into a baby bed, padded with quilts or blankets. In this way he may rest comfortably and play with a few washable toys.

Today canned milk, vegetables and cereals are plentiful and oranges are available everywhere. An ice-box for the auto is not expensive and is almost a necessity if one goes by car. Take along plenty of clean but simple clothing and a rubber bag to carry wet things in. Paper tissue handkerchiefs will be found a convenience and even paper diapers, for occasional use. A sheet of rubberized material will prove valuable. Rubberized diapers may be worn for short periods, over the other diapers—but much use of these is hard on the infant's skin. Provide enough sterilized bottles and nipples, well protected from dust and germs. Canned heat may be carried to warm the bottles.

A trip is usually exciting for anyone. Keep baby as quiet as possible and close to his regular schedule. Do not allow strangers to handle him and never let them kiss him, especially on the mouth.

Colored Ceilings

We have long obeyed the rule that the floor should be darker than the walls of a room and the ceiling lighter than the walls. A white ceiling reflects the light and makes a room lighter. It also makes the ceiling seem higher and the room larger. On the contrary, if a ceiling is too high, a dark ceiling seems to bring it lower.

As a matter of novelty and new interest, some decorators are painting the walls of a room a different color, and the ceiling the color of one of them. A cheery colored ceiling in a bed room has a psychological effect on one when he first awakens and his eye rests on it.

One plan is to paint the ceiling sky blue and to trim the room with floral decorations, like the gay outdoors in spring. Another is to have a blue ceiling with stars stenciled on it. A variation in room decoration is to paint a door the color of the ceiling, or to paint only one side of the door jam or window frame the ceiling color. Daring souls are using their ingenuity to devise new decorative interest.

Vacation Health

The beauty of a vacation is that it gives one a chance to get tired in a new spot, doing something different. Whatever you plan to do, spend the first two days just relaxing. Lie in the sunshine for awhile, getting your sunbath. Be careful not to lie there too long at first or you will be well blistered and have some suffering later. After a short sunbath, lie in the shade, in the fresh air, and let the breezes blow over you and your blood devour the oxygen for which it hungers.

After two days, your ambition will arouse and then is the time for moderate exercise, at first. This will make you hungry, but choose the bulky foods: fresh vegetables and fruits instead of too much potato, meat and cheese. Water and milk are usually pure at most resorts, but there is always a danger of disease, in going a-gyping. The safest plan is to prepare for a journey by taking the inoculation to insure against typhoid fever. The protection is well worth the slight expense and inconvenience.

Berry Preserves

Gooseberries and currants contain sufficient acid to make good jelly with the addition of sugar; but blueberries, raspberries, strawberries and blackberries need some pectin added to make jam or jelly successfully. This is available in the markets and its use saves sugar and anxiety.

Berries are usually expensive and it is a question whether it is more economical to buy and preserve them or to buy them in cans put up in localities where they are plentiful. There is almost no other fruit more delicious in jams and the homemade product is a great luxury. They have such a pronounced flavor that only a small amount seasons other foods and this is an economical feature. To add apple juice to berries will sometimes provide enough pectin to make them jelly.

It being somewhat dark, he stepped into the pit and fell, breaking seven ribs beside injuring his spine. He was taken to the emergency hospital and from there to Sutter hospital where he was attended to at once and on Saturday was placed in a cast where he will have to remain for some time. His wife was with him at the time of the accident and after he was made comfortable at the hospital, took the car and came home to Lotus, going Friday to see how her husband was getting along and on Sunday she and his mother, Mrs. Frank Hines, drove down to the capital city, returning in the evening. the part of employers, employees, or racketeers.

4. That appropriate steps be taken through legislation, or in other proper ways, to bring about responsibility on the part of labor organizations corresponding with that imposed upon employers.

5. Because of the perishable nature of agricultural products and because of the many uncontrollable factors and elements in producing and marketing such products which might cause ruinous losses to producers, farm laborers, and consumers, agriculture, while not opposed to collective bargaining, must be kept free from the effects of the imposition of the "hiring hall" and the "closed shop."

6. We believe that every agricultural worker is entitled to the protection of the housing and sanitary requirements of the state law administered by the Division of Immigration and Housing. Where crops or combination of crops justify it, we believe that these facilities should be provided by owners on their own farms. We believe that where shifting crops, experimental crops or combination of crops do not justify construction by farmers, community camps under local administration and control should be established, either through farm co-operatives, camp districts or other agencies. Such community camps are also advocated in areas where migrants gather between crops. The influx of migrant laborers from distress areas is a national responsibility which should not be imposed upon agriculture as an additional burden.

7. Agriculture recognizes the need for continuous farm labor employment and recommends that known practices to attain this result immediately be instituted by individual farmers and that program of study be undertaken by farmers and official agencies.

8. We favor the establishment and maintenance of agencies which effectively will determine and co-ordinate labor requirements and provide for distribution of workers as between crops and sections of the state.

9. We advocate that farm laborers be paid a maximum wage consistent with the farmer's ability to pay.

10. We endorse the present system of education of children of migratory workers and urge its extension where needs are not adequately being met.

11. That agricultural employers in the exercise of their responsibility of leadership freely avail themselves of every opportunity to educate the people as to the value of the American governmental and economic system and the general welfare.

Are Il Duce and Hitler to Form an Alliance?

TO FORM PACT?—Are the dictators of two great Fascist nations about to form a military alliance? Recurrent rumors have it that Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany, upper left, and Premier Mussolini of Italy, lower right, Austria must make her own best terms with Germany. Relinquishment of this protection appears a concession to Hitler by Il Duce. Were an alliance formed, then goose-stepping Germans might march side by side with Mussolini's Blackshirts, if the present vague rumblings of war eventually grow into earth-shaking thunder of guns.

THREE-COLOR SUIT

Copyright, 1937, by Patrich Ltd. Hartnell's use of three colors in sports suits has already been commented upon, and the model sketched is a typical example. It combines a stone box jacket with orange shirt and black skirt. The skirt, very narrow and just slit at the hem, is also typical of the collection. The wide patent leather belt has a black composition buckle crossed by a line of orange.

A recent survey disclosed an infestation of citrus white fly in East Sacramento.

Save Time By Preparing These Easy Dishes Early

By JUDITH WILSON

SOMETHING you can prepare in a hurry that, meanwhile, appeals to the eye and is tantalizing in flavor is the requirement for summer dishes. You do not want to worry about putting the roast in the oven or paring vegetables, when the outdoors is calling and you covet every precious, sunny moment.

Then look at the menus here. They are light but satisfying. Some of the items can be prepared the night before or early in the morning, and set in the refrigerator or cake box until you are ready to use them.

Here are recipes for those and other intriguing summer dishes.

Fruit and Cheese Salad

Take as many kinds of fruit as you have available and allow enough cottage cheese to make a generous serving for each person. Add a tablespoon cream, a teaspoon sugar, a light sprinkling of salt, 2 or 3 dates cut in fine slivers, a tablespoon of chopped nuts and a little finely chopped preserved ginger, if you like it. Beat until blended and put into a nest of crisp inner lettuce leaves in the center of your prettiest chop plate or platter. Around it arrange your fruit. Quarters of tiny honeyball melons, filled with lightly sugared raspberries, strawberries or blueberries, slices of orange and banana dipped in lemon juice, sections of ripe peaches or avocado, sprinkled with lemon juice, and small sticks of fresh pineapple, are suggestions. Pass mayonnaise if you must, but we like a French dressing made with lemon juice much better.

Jellied Cucumber Ring
Dissolve 1 package lime and 1 package lemon flavored gelatin in 2 cups boiling water. Add ½ cup cold water, 4 tablespoons vinegar,

LUNCHEONS
Fruit and Cheese Salad Platter
Deviled Ham Biscuits
Peach Custard Tarts
Coffee

Tomato Bouillon
Jellied Cucumber Ring with
Fresh Shrimp or Lobster Salad
Assorted Hot Bread
Jelly Roll
Iced Tea

½ teaspoon salt and chill until it begins to thicken. Add 2 cups grated cucumber. Pour into a ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold and fill the center with a shrimp or lobster salad made with equal parts shrimp or lobster and sliced celery and seasoned with a little grated onion, finely shredded unpeeled red radishes, minced green pepper, salt and pepper to taste and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Garnish with crisp lettuce, chicory or watercress.

Cocoa Bread

This is something deliciously different for your summer menus. It makes grand sandwiches to accompany the iced afternoon beverage or tea or as accompaniment to a fruit salad. Sift 2 1/3 cups flour, add 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons cocoa and ½ cup sugar and resift twice. Beat 1 egg until light, add 1 1/3 cups milk and 4 tablespoons melted shortening and stir into the first mixture, blending just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Pour into a greased loaf pan and allow to stand 15 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. Cool before slicing. This is really better the second day.
